Miami! “From The Edge Of The Frontier Trading Post To Magical Beach Oasis!”

Miami has always held a special allure for most people. The perceptions of it being for only models and the rich are right and wrong. Miami is gorgeous and gaudy. Living up to it's hedonistic atmosphere at any chance that it gets. The people are tanned and toned just like the popular magazines present. But it is also ultra assessable for the non-model alike.

Sitting on the edge of the Caribbean. The weather rarely dips below blissful, balmy temperatures. Making it a tropical paradise with ultra international atmosphere. The winds blow off the Atlantic and wisp through the palm trees in a dreamy surreal atmosphere that just take you to another world.

Every cliché is realized in the slick art deco architecture, all night parties and spacious white sandy beaches. This city does it's best to never sleep. And it does this well. Within just a short while you can experience a model photo shoot, MTV talent contests and half naked people. And this is just the beach.

Miami is a relatively young city. Founded a little more than a century ago. Miami started as a humble trading post before the extension of the railroad made this a more assessable place by Henry Flagler in 1896. In the 1920's Miami became a hot spot for vacationers. Local business entrepreneur's aggressively capitalized on the American public's penchant for vacationing in sunny locales. A hotel boom ensued and the Art Deco hotel masterpieces were born for the world to enjoy.

Miami was a prime vacation spot until the early 60's, when the first wave of Castro's Exiles began coming in mass from Cuba. Miami is barely seen as a part of the US, a place that's tropically lawless and suspiciously bilingual. Yet at the heart of Miami is an example of an ordinary American town. Ordered, safe and filled with opportunity.

This guide takes you inside of South Beach and gives you tips on getting around this city on the cheap. But you will feel that you are not missing anything.

What to Expect From South Beach. Or How To Look At it To Get The Most Out Of SOBE.

Okay, let's get down to the nitty gritty on hotel rooms in South Beach. The Boutique hotels are just that. When people think hotel rooms in the US they think of Holiday Inns, Hilton or any other chain run lodging establishments. Rooms that are spacious, cookie-cutter layout. Well with boutique it is going to be small rooms. This is why you should expect this. This is what makes this such a neat place to go. Do not bring too much stuff with you. Or you may not be able to move in your hotel room. Bathrooms and Showers might be small. If they have safes this is best because you never know about Hotel Staff.

Also when Americans go on vacation they want to be pampered. They demand a lot of things that they usually do not demand anywhere else but on vacation. So many people think that the hotel staff's of many hotels in South Beach seem a little uncaring. It is just the average American is used to getting the best. The attitude is not usually of the hotel staff but of the hotel guests themselves. I had a great time when I was there because I kept an open mind. If you are looking for adventure then South Beach will be your muse if you let it.

I was nice to them and they were very nice to me. It usually is two way street. If you smile at people then they will usually try to help even if they do not know what you are saying. A lot of them speak Haitian, and Spanish. It helps to know a little Spanish. This is the fun part.

South Beach is in a tropical climate. What does this mean? High humidity and plants and animals those are usually bigger and much more persistent than the average species. So if you encounter large cock roaches then just think that this is like the environment of many island nations.

Also, where there is always balmy weather you have opportunists. In opportunists I mean that people that you may not usually see where you come from. Like what I call carnival barkers. The restaurateurs, and cruise specialists, that try to get you to buy the daily special which might be $20 or more to over-priced average wines in the $40 a bottle range. Or try a free cruise that really is not free. Just tell them you are not interested but don't be rude.

Other opportunists are the plethora of homeless people that you see. So get used to it. It is all part of any place that has so much going for it. And so many people vacationing with money to spend.
